

Whiterock Lake at Dallas Claims Two Lives Within Eight-Hour Period Sunday

A Sunday afternoon swim by a group of boys from the Waco State Home ended in tragedy when one of the boys, Joe Jordan, 14, drowned in the Bosque river just above Lovers' Leap in Cameron park. The tragedy occurred between 4 and 5 o'clock.

The body was recovered at 7 p. m. by J. H. Blanton of the home and M. W. Layser, who dived for it in water about 20 feet deep. Word of the drowning did not reach the home for some time, and rescue efforts were delayed, according to officers who were called to the place. Policemen Brownlow, Emmons and Casey, Detectives Westmoreland and Blount and Deputy Sheriffs Duncan and Lake answered the call.

Clipped By:

gene

Sun, Aug 30, 2015